

Checking the Current Status on Two Devices Simultaneously

To check the current status on two devices simultaneously, GMM allows a teacher to run the Java app on a computer and see a limited view of current status on another device, including a smartphone or another computer. The screen will appear different than the Java app teacher screen. This method of access is designed for current status access from a smartphone and limited to a current status for a chosen class. The current problem for each student, the ability to allow for raised hands, and other features are not available from this type of access.

Using the Student button on gmm.getmoremath.com, enter the teacher credentials to login.

From this screen, choose Classes.

After choosing Classes, the class names will be listed. Choose the class you wish to view.

Now, you are able to view the current status of students in the class, and you are able to refresh the status.

END